MATTERS IN MISSOURL

Admiral Farragut, therefore, is still above Port Hudson, and in position to cooperate with Grant and Porter.

Harper, for May, has a pleasant article, whise will be quite the reverse of anonyne in its nature, to nervous male street walkangers in perpetual nightly horror. It is nothing less than the Science of Garroting with illustrations, and Burglary made clear by wood cuts. We read it, and carry the fine peralel at once. We are ready to be [Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribuna.]
Sr. Lours, April 25, 1825.
There is great arrivity, but no apprehension, for news from Southeast Missouri. This moraling an order was issued prohibiting the departure of any steamers down the river. Out of this a rumor has grown to prodigious size that Cape Girardeau is in the hands of the rebels. No positive information to that effect has been received thus far. The place bruot so strongly defended as could be wished. Gov. Gamble, Gen. Curtis and other military and civil magnates profess to believe the rebel advance is only a raid. The srmy at Pilot Knob is receiving such accessions of strength that it will be able to beat bask the rebels if they advance to the town. Unless the rebels move toward the river, they will be in danger of starving, as the country between Patterson and Pocohontas is bare of forage and provisions. There are other movements to check the rebels, but particulars are contrabund. The telegraph line to Fayotteville is again down. A thonsand absurd rumors are reported here concerning Price, and his strength and intentions.

Sr. Lours. April 23.—There has been no by wood cuts. We read it, and carry the fine paralel at once. We are ready to be lieve, from our dispatches, that Vicksburg has been garroted. As to how, let us examins Your stout, elderly gentleman, plethorie of habit and purse, is not an easy prey to a direct attack. He may show fight and call for help, and otherwise retard the ceveted process of possession. The garroter understands this. He lets alone direct contention before it be meddled with. By a starp, quick movement in the dark, he shuts off the stout man's wind, has his arm shout his throat, and presently it is allover with stout man.

he shuts off the stout man's wind, has his arm shout his throat, and presently it is all over with stout man.

When the dispatches recently assured us that Vicksburg was being evacuated, we distrusted it. We could not see any cause for the stout man to throw away his wallet in advance. When Gen. Sherman went openly, and blindly, too, in upon the stout man, there was a stout fight, and nothing but hard knocks gained. (We do not here refer to Knox the newspaper correspondent whom Gen. Sherman so thoroughly pained on that occasion, that it has cost him infinite pains since to get rid of him.) We were ready to believe that the stout man would be assailed the second time. Indeed to drop the garroting figure, as he was only a stout thief, holding what never belonged to him, the key to the Mississippi, any rough treatment needed to dispesses and rout him should be common tice, as well as highly military.

But when Gen. Grant slips his militer and naval arm about Vicksburg's this and haval arm about Vicksburg's this and admiral Farragut delivers a could him she below the waisthand, we see that Vicksburg's wind is impeded and lost, and she just where a stout man would be ith the "maty man's wrist on his waster for May." See Harreet for May. tions.

3r. Locus, April 23.—There has been no new movement of the rebels in the vicinity of Pilot Knob. Gen. McNeil, from Bloomeki, was expected to reach Pilot Knob yesterday, and a heavy force of cavalry from Rolla is marching on the rear of the rebels. Steamers are prohibited from leaving for Southern ports until further orders.

There are rumors of the capture of Cape Girerdean, on the Minstappi, 150 miles below here, by Marmaninke; but we have no particular, and the military authorities have no intimation of it.

The market is in the fight at Patterson was about to cinding two Captains killed and one mortally wounded, and two Lleutenants badly wounded. Our loss was eleven killed and twenty wounded.

There is nothing further of a reliable character from Pilot Knob.

The New York Tribune has been caught in a trap, which the French Consuls at Mobile and San Francisco have set, in their zeel to serve the Emperor, their lord and master. The Tribune amounts with consults. seel to serve the Emperor, their lord and mester. The Tribune asserts with every appearance of sincerity, and in its leading solumns, that the French have bombarded Puebla, and taken all the Important positions and forts in the neighborhood of the city. This statement is put forth as verifiable intelligence, and the editor piques himself upon his sagacity in having puedicted long ago that Puebla would fall—and concludes with telling us that Mexico and concludes with telling us that Mexico will no doubt be in French hands before

The New York Times, alluding to this conard, as having been circulated pretty widely through the country, says it is all premsture as fact, and not likely to take place at all, which is also our own opinion, ommencing March 20. Bo far the dispatch.

THE COMPRIERATE LOAN. DRESS GOODS IMPORTANT PROM POLAND Parasols and Sun Shades,

The insurrection in Foland is said to be increasing in various parts. Crasow telegrams of the 5th state that on that morning six hundred Ruesians attacked two hundred and fifty insurgents at Zehiahey, between Olkusky and Cracow. After three hours' fighting, the Rusaians were repulsed with a severe loss. A fresh body of insurgents, under the command of Gregowicz, has appeared in the neighborhood of Cracow and another in the violatity of Marisupol. They have interrupted the rall-rold communication between Kowno and Rydoulnew. Lithmania is in open insurrection. A battle has been fought at Janow, near Kownow. Earl Russel to Lord Napier, instructing him-to inform Frince Gortschakeff of the regret-with which the sangulnary struggle in Poland, is viewed by the British government, and sug-gesting a return of the promises made to Po-land in 1818, with a general amnesty as the sole remody for the terrible evil. The journal in question next states that the Russian min-iger made no official reply to this nois, but that the tenor of his talk with Lord Napier was not of a maker to discourage those who was not of a nature to discourage those who hoped for spontaneous and equitable concession from the Olar.

PMENTS BY LAKE FOR THE LAST TWENTY-POT

In our last, we gave our usual annual exhibit of the pork crop of the Western States, for the pass season, showing a marvellous increase over any previous season, well calculated to make those engaged in the trade, and who are holding stocks, consider the whole matter carefully and seriously; like who who was the season of the season's crop would, or about, and that this amount would exceed the quantity shipped of the crop of 165-2. It was then supposed that the amount left for home consumption would be quite moderate, and that, nowithstanding the large amount of old meast left over from last season's crop, resumerative priese, at least, would be obtained for what might be left over after supplying hope, induged in by the trade, has full and winter, will be realized, time only can determine accurately. In order to place the present position of the trade before our readers, we have compiled from our statistics the following table, showing the exports of pork and lard from the United States to foreign countries, from November 1st to April St., this season and last, which comprise the exports, of ac, of portionard the long crop of each of the last two seasons, namely, 165-3 and 166-3:

The Sha Lion in Thouria.—For some time past, the Post Office alley has been the residence of a fercelous animal fresh from the hyperborean regions, called the sea lion, who had been ruthlessly torn from his key home by the great Barnum, and fer a long time exhibited to wondering Gothamites. Latterly the sea lion made a tour to Chicago, and took up his residence in the Post Office alley. Huge placards gave picturesque views of the "animale" aporting in his bringhelement, or reposing upon stupendous lockersy in contemplative mood. A wheesy hand organ ground out preans to his praise. The well dressed man stood at the door with the treasury notes defity twisted between his fingers, and made thrilling harangues upon the courage, the fetocity, the beauty and the viriues of the Sea Lion. But the magic eintment and Attleboro jewelry on one side, the wax generals, the kangaroo, the fat woman, and the Albino on the other, and Butt'e Liniment across the way were too much for the sea lion, and the sea lion therefore packed his trunk, wrapped up his leebergs, coiled his tall round his hand organ, and with the well dressed man and the treasury notes jveyaged to Clark street, where he might decoy curious strangers by the early Madison street trains. Business was slack, however, and the sea lion occupied the front hibition. The sea lion occupied the front way were too much for the sea lion, and the sea lion therefore packed his tall round his hand organ, and with the well dressed man and the treasury notes froyaged to Clark street, where he might decoy curions strangers by the early Madison street trains. Business was slack, however, and tile sea lion one day put his foot in it by getting another, saimal on exhibition. The sea lion cocupied the front room, the "tilger" the back room, and it always cost more to see the "tilger" than it did the lion. On Wednesday an ardent devotes of mature, from the seelinds wilds of Paw Paw, after spending a few minutes among the iceturgs with the sea lion, in a rash moment penetrated the mysteries of the back room, "bucked the tiger" and lost. He made complaint against the sea lion, captured him and took him to the Police Court, where he was fined $80.

This motion gave rise to some discussion Thomas Hoyne thought the presence of mili-tary and naval officers at the Convention tary and naval concers as the Convention would engender political animosities, and militate against the grand object in view.

After remarks by several other gentlemen, the motion, by agreement, was laid over for further consideration. The meeting then adjourned, subject to mother call from the Chairman.
